Profile

I'm a software developer living in Fort Worth, Texas. Most of my days are spent designing and crafting software and leading software development teams. I really enjoy what I do and am passionate about creating products that delight, and promoting a team-centric culture for the companies I serve. I specialize in enterprise software design and development. I enjoy solving problems with an elegant user experience and a development process that enables continuous delivery.

Experience

FOUNDER, SCRUMMAGE, LLC; FORT WORTH, TX – 2008-PRESENT

After trying many Scrum management tools to utilize at Fellowship Tech/Active Network, I found that there wasn't a product on the market that met all of our needs as an agile development team. I began working on Scrummage in 2008 and continue to work on it today with an awesome team. We have served clients such as The Verge, SB Nation and booking.com.
